Mamie Coleman, VP Music, FOX

"goNORTH acts as a gateway into the UK market and is a great way for us to access new international artists".

John Robb

"goNORTH is great on many levels, great line up of bands that goes beyond the usual dustbin indie fare, a beautiful city to hang out in and a surprisingly diverse cross section of people attending making it one of the best of the music conference circuit".

Sat Bisla, President & Founder, A&R Worldwide

"goNORTH has proven to be Scotland's premier music showcase and conference event. It continually evolves and brings a great balance of creativity and commercial outcomes. I always find the event productive and a valuable experience".

Keith Harris: Director for Performer Affairs, PPL

"goNORTH is a much more open seminar. A lot of conferences are expensive, which makes them exclusive. goNORTH makes it easy for the people who really need the information to get it".

NOTE TO EDITORS

goNORTH was launched in 2001 to provide a platform for artistes from the north of Scotland to showcase for music industry and media representatives on their own patch. Originally hosted across Aberdeen's Belmont Street, we briefly relocated to Dundee, before settling in Scotland's most northerly city, Inverness. Now covering a much wider remit including Screen & Broadcast, Designer Fashion and Publishing, the event has become firmly established as Scotland's leading Creative Industries Festival.

We introduced the goNORTH Festival Tour in 2011, an exciting addition which takes goNORTH back to its roots and supports new music and film across some of the finest independent festivals in the country. Our partner festivals for 2014 are Belladrum Tartan Heart Festival, Wickerman Festival and Loopallu.
